A School Without a Priest

It is a remarkable thing that the United States is the only country advancing in civilization where the great reform of secularizing the schools is likely to be abandoned—that is if people do not show a little more interest in the subject than they have lately displayed. In all European liberal countries where there are two or more religious parties, the first effort of the liberal movement is always to make the schools secular. In Italy many of the church foundations have already been appropriated to the use of the State and many of the schools have been or are now made secular. The cry of the Liberal party in Italy is "free schools a free church, a free State." In Germany, since the various Provinces and kingdoms have become united under one imperial head, the great object of the Liberal and Patriotic party is to remove the schools from the control both of the Protestant and Catholic clergy. In Prussia the whole school system has been considered part and parcel of the church. In the Catholic Provinces and the Catholic countries of Germany, the Romanist clergy had undisputed sway over the early training of the children. All this the Liberal party have determined utterly to break up. They will have education entirely secular and no priestly hand placed by force of law upon the youthful training of German children.

In England again, owing to the many shades of religious opinion and the claims of various sects and churches the view is becoming more and more general in the Liberal Party that the best course in forming the new national system of education, will be to make it entirely secular. They would not refuse all aid in the present condition of affairs to religious bodies requiring assistance for their schools for that might do an injustice to vested interests. But in forming new schools they would as much as possible throw out the banner of "Education free and secular." The strong tendency of the wisest English mind is toward escaping the whole religious difficulty by separating entirely the school and the church.

Now in all these countries there is no objection among the liberal parties to teaching religion or such or to combining instruction in religion with general education. They all believe religion to be one of the moral safeguards of society, some believe it to be much more but they do not conceive it to be the best taught by force of law under a public system of education. They hold that the private family, the individual church or the Sabbath school are the places where its sacred truths can be best inculcated. Religion, if taught in public schools becomes mere formalism or the means of strengthening priestcraft. It soon loses all its best quality.

In this country no American who wishes well for the future of the Republic would desire to put the plastic mind of our youth under the hand of a Catholic Priest. We know perfectly well that the experience of all countries shows that such instruction is a means of degrading the intellect, and debasing the manhood of the youthful scholar. It teaches him to bow to principles which are opposed to all the notions of modern progress. It gives him mental habits which unfit him to be a republican or an American citizen. We believe the proposed attempt to put a portion of our public schools under the control of the Priests to be full of danger to the liberties of this country, and we earnestly exhort all who have any share in our public education to be exceedingly cautious how they, in the slightest degree, impair the system which has thus far been so successful and so truly impartial.—N. Y. Times

Having Moral Courage.

Moral courage is a big thing. All the good papers advise everybody to have moral courage. All the almanacs wind up with a word about moral courage.

"Have the moral courage to discharge a debt while you have the money in your pocket" is one of the moral paragraphs. Mr Mower read this once and determined to act upon it. One day his wife handed him five dollars which she had been two years saving and asked him to bring her up a parasol and a pair of gaiters. On the way down he met a creditor and had the courage to pay him. Returning home his wife called him 157 000 pet names as "fool," "idiot," etc. and then struck him four times in the pit of the stomach with a flat iron. After that he didn't have as much moral courage as would make a leaning post for a sick grasshopper, and his wife didn't forgive him for thirteen years.

"Have the courage to speak the truth" is a paragraph always in use. I once knew a boy named Peter. One day when he was loafing around he heard some men talking about old Mr Hangmoney. Then talk made a deep impression on Peter and he spoke the truth. He said

"Mr Hangmoney, when I was up town to-day I heard Baker say you were a regular old hedgehog with a tin ear."

"What!" roared the old gent.

"And Clavis said that you were meaner than a dead hog rolled in tanbark," continued the truthful lad.

"You imp—you little villain," roared the old man.

"And Kingston said that you were a bald headed cross eyed cheating lying stealing old skunk under the hen coop!" added the boy.

Then old Mr Hangmoney fell upon the youthful Peter and he mopped the floor with him, knocked his heels against the wall, tore his collar off, and put his shoulder out of joint all because the boy had the moral courage to tell the truth.

And there was young Towboy—it was the same way with him. He had the moral courage to go over to an old maid and say

"Miss False, my father says he never saw such a withered up old Hubbard squash as you are, round trying to trap a man!"

"He did, eh," mused the old maid, rising up from her chair.

"Yes, and mother says it's a burning shame that you call yourself twenty-four when you forty-seven and she says your hair dye costs more than our wool!"

"She said that, did she," murmured the female.

"Yes and sister Jane says that if she had such a big mouth, such freckels, such big feet, and such silly ways she'd want the lightning to strike her!"

And then the old maid picked up the rolling-pin and sought the house in which Towboy resided, and knocked down and dragged out until it was a hospital. Then Towboy's father mauled him, his mother pounded him, and his sister denuded him of hair—all because he had moral courage in his daily life.

THE City Attorney last evening, on behalf of the Telegraph Avenue Commissioners, asked permission to withdraw their report for the purpose of correcting the clerical errors referred to in yesterday's TRIBUNE.

A NEW daily called the Advertiser has been started at San Jose by Benj. M. Cottle. It is an evening publication and a model of typographical neatness. Its political status is not developed in the first number.

Mr. Roleson must be sorely put to it to find ways of spending his enormous appropriations. —Post.

Why won't Mr. Roleson take the hint and divert some of those "enormous appropriations" in the direction of the Post office? By assisting to bolster up that concern he could "find ways of spending" any amount of appropriations.

THE Post is agitated because Bottuck's paper gets a little official plunder in the shape of "advertisements for the supply of the navy yards" at certain places. The Post shouldn't be piggish. Considering that it is a violent Democratic paper, a monthly contribution of $175 to the editorial staff from the Mint appropriations, is quite liberal. Party "organs," like the Spirit of the Times, are certainly entitled to some of the "crumbs" from the Government table.

THE Western Union Telegraph monopoly lately is not as ably edited politically as it was some weeks ago. Simonton's absence was at once apparent. That worthy is rusticating for a few weeks in California. He will return to his labors with renewed vigor, and will no doubt startle the country by the number and magnitude of his political falsehoods. There is not much danger of his losing the proud distinction of "Champion liar" of the Union, so long as he has the assistance of the monopoly lightning.

WHEN the County Convention meets, some reference should be made in the platform to the text-book question. This is a matter that directly affects the pockets of the poor people of the State, and it ought not to be ignored by the party. The recent attempt to tax the patrons of the public schools merely to benefit a book-making firm in San Francisco, shows that the subject requires legislation. Some restraining statute that would prevent the State Board of Education from continually tampering with the text-books should be enacted.

THE name of Hon E. T. Crane, of San Lorenzo, is mentioned in connection with the State Senatorship. Mr. Crane is a gentleman of wealth and standing in this county. He served one term in the assembly, was a hard-working member of several Committees, and whenever the interests of his county were involved he was indefatigable. His exertions in behalf of the State University, in the Legislature of 1872, were untiring, and the appropriation of that session was mainly due to his efforts. Mr. Crane is a man of broad and liberal views, and above all, thoroughly honest. In the choice of a Senator, the people might go farther and not find a better man for the position than the gentleman in question.

INDIAN affairs at Washington are assuming an alarming phase. The Commissioner quartered the chiefs at the Tremont House, and the noble red men have become dissatisfied with the accommodations at that hotel. In a former pleasure excursion through the country, some of these western gentlemen had been entertained at the "Washington," and had formed an attachment for that tavern. Mr Red Cloud first manifested symptoms of discontent. It seems there was a flaw in the mirror before which he made his morning toilet, which distorted his naturally handsome features. When he first observed the frightful reflection he rushed madly for his tomahawk, and with a yell that sent a thrill of horror through all the cast iron lions in the neighborhood, he tackled the hideous spectacle and got away with it. Damages charged to Government, with the usual per centage to the agent. Then Deacon Spotted Tail took offense at a hair in his hot rolls. Professor Crow Dog insists on cream for his coffee. Esquire American Horse demands finger bowls. A fly fell in Dr. Conquering Bear's coffee, and he left the dining room in high dudgeon after upsetting the table and stampeding the waiters. Charged in bill of extras, with usual commissions to agent. The Commissioner visited the irritable "braves" and sought to conciliate them; but observing that they cast longing, lingering looks at his highly perfumed scalp locks, accompanied by nervous twitchings of their hands as they affectionately fondled the handles of their knives, the worthy official speedily withdrew. Yesterday the chiefs moved over to the "Washington," bag and baggage—the latter consisting of an old felt hat and a pair of Mexican spurs for each head and heel. This was the situation at last accounts. It is given out that the President will interview the distinguished horse thieves shortly.

BOOTH'S syllogism may be stated thus: Major Premise—All the offices should be given to the honest party.

Minor Premise—The Dolly Vardens is the only honest party in the State.

Conclusion—Therefore, all the State offices should be given to the Dolly Vardens.

The minor premise implies that all Republicans and Democrats are rogues, and without such a premise the conclusion is worthless. If so happens that the Dollies were all Republicans or Democrats, and must then have been rogues. If they admit that, they may find it difficult to prove a change of heart; if they deny it, they may find it difficult to explain the denial so as to make it credible.—Alta.

THOSE STATE ISSUES.

Some time since a number of gentlemen calling themselves Independents issued an "address" to the people of California, in which voters were asked to ignore party ties in the coming campaign, and vote with the hermaphrodite or Independent party. With an eye single to the State and County offices, the men who prepared the address in question, assumed to deplore the dragging of national politics into the State canvass. The burden of their long-winded appeal was "State issues." The Bulletin took up the refrain and the air was resonant with its wailing for "State issues." Presently along came Governor Booth, the chief of the Independents, and the one altogether lovely. He was announced as follows in his organ the Bulletin:

The Senator comes at the commencement of a political struggle which involves the Government of the State for four year, and of the counties for two.

It also gave out that he would publicly proclaim the plans and purposes of his new party. Of course it was expected that the Governor's sympathies would be entirely enlisted on behalf of the down-trodden, tax-ridden oppressed people of the State—the Dolly Varden office seekers. But the Governor has an eye to the main chance every time, and, with the Presidency in view, he branched off on to "National issues." He intimated that his "only honest" party might be expected to enter the National political contest of 1876—with this mental reservation, of course—provided he shall be nominated as the standard bearer.

All this cry of State issues is a blind. It is raised for the purpose of distracting attention from the real object in view. The main thing with the Bulletin crowd is to beat the Republican party. If an occasional office can be secured here and there, it will be so much clear gain, but the Congressional delegation must go back anything but Republican. It is possible that the next Presidential election may be decided in the House of Representatives. This is a contingency worth providing against. There may be millions in California's four votes. And if Booth's party cannot hope to carry the State they will be satisfied to defeat the Republicans. This would be a species of recognition that might rank as next best to an Independent victory. With an indorsement similar to this, Gratz Brown got tacked on to Greeley's coat tails, and it is barely possible that there may be a party started somewhere in the East next year that will find a Presidential candidate who will permit our ex-Governor to occupy a like position, in which event. Nast, no doubt, would be delighted to present Newton to the public.

THE San Francisco water question has taken a most extraordinary turn. At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors of that city last week, they adopted a resolution declaring "it to be expedient and proper to purchase water rights, etc., of the Alameda Water Company." The matter came up for consideration last evening, when a motion to postpone action for one week developed an astonishing condition of affairs. A communication was read from Messrs. John S. Hagar, S. Maynard, Louis McLane, Lloyd Tevis and Charles E. McLane, claiming ownership of the rights of the Alameda Water Company. It appears that some ten years ago these prudent gentlemen discovered the great water privilege in question lying around loose, and anticipating that it would at some future time be useful, they gathered it in. Following is the communication referred to:

To the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco—GENTLEMEN: We, the undersigned Trustees and stockholders of the San Francisco and Alameda Water Company, duly incorporated under the laws of the State of California (the certificate of incorporation having been filed in the office of the County Clerk of the City and County of San Francisco, June 5th, 1865, and also in the office of the Secretary of State, June 8th, 1865, and there recorded in Book N, page 258), hereby give notice that the said company claim the waters of the Alameda Creek, in the County of Alameda, California, and all its tributaries, including the waters of the Calaveras Valley running into said Alameda Creek, as a part of its corporate property and franchises, and that it is so named and declared in its articles of incorporation; that after its incorporation said company commenced work to carry out the purposes of its incorporation, when another company, called the Alameda Water Company, claimed the same waters and property, or a part thereof, and thereupon a suit was instituted in the Courts of this State to determine the rights of the respective parties, which suit was finally adjudicated in the Supreme Court of this State, and the rights of the said San Francisco and Alameda Water Company in and to the said waters were fully recognized, determined and established. See 36 California Reports, pages 639, etc. (Signed.)

The general belief prevails that the endorsement of the Alameda Water Company scheme has received a severe, if not fatal blow.

A Remodelled Institution.

The Messrs Thomson Brothers can now boast of having one of the handsomest and most conveniently arranged bakery depots on the Coast. What with fancy tables new and elegant show-cases and everything remodelled and tastily ornamented, it can hardly be beaten anywhere. The window cases and signs are something at once novel and attractive. They were gotten up by Mr Bushell of Twelfth street and by a non-transparent arrangement of the upper half of the window-panes, the attention of passers by is at once concentrated on the fine display of confectionery, candies etc, which are on view. The gilt letters and emerald green background of the sign is also very pretty. In the interior of the establishment the eye and palate of the visitor is simultaneously tickled by the store ornaments and tempting edibles. An attempt to catalogue the good things to be obtained at the Bakery would be abortive on our part, so we refer our readers to the double column advertisement in to-day's issue of the TRIBUNE only adding that for quality and price of goods this establishment is unexcelled by any in the Coast

A Novelty.

Pedestrians in the vicinity of Ninth and Washington streets were last night attracted to the cottage on the corner from which emanated the familiar anthem, "Sound the Battle Cry" which was first introduced here by Brother Hammond and which has become all the rage now on account of its exquisite melody. The sounds in question proceeded from the throats of a multitude of celestials who had planted themselves on boxes, tables, stools etc, and were holding a sort of revival meeting. At the conclusion of each verse which they sang with proper emphasis and with the peculiar accent which they give to English words they would break out with a volume of Chinese gibberish interspersed with laughter jokes etc. Then they would start in on the hymn again then faces assuming the most pious aspects and with due solemnity finish the verse. This was kept up some time to the infinite amusement of quite a Caucasian congregation on the outside

San Bernardino Typography.

As a specimen of typography the San Bernardino Guardian just walks over anything we ever saw. The advertisements look as though they were yanked together by some low-priced greaser, while the whole paper resembles a livery stable poster in distress

Hurrah! Hurrah! Berliner Weis Beer in the Teutonia Hall No 473 Eighth street between Broadway and Washington is the only place in Oakland that keeps that fine and healthy beer.

THE FINISHING TOUCHES.

The County Court House Nearly Completed—The Carpets to be Laid this Week—Probable Occupation by the 1st of June.

We paid a visit to the new Court House this morning [illegible] matters pertaining to the [illegible] approaching a speedy [illegible]. The painters are the only class [illegible] work in the building, except [illegible] penters who are giving the finishing strokes to the shelving [illegible] story and the [illegible]

[illegible]

This apartment [illegible] the largest and handsomest in the building is situated on the left as you enter the Broadway entrance. The massive and elaborately carved counters have just received the finishing touches of the painter, and so soon as the floor is cleansed the room will be ready for the carpets. This apartment being large it has been set apart for two offices viz the Treasurer and the Tax Collector

THE ASSESSOR'S ROOM

Is situated to the left as you enter the Fourth street entrance. It is complete in every particular and ready for the carpet. Large racks and huge pigeon-holes have been erected, while the counter, which is composed of Port Orford and Spanish cedar and black walnut (as also are all the counters in the building) is a perfect beauty. A large vault for official documents and other valuables pertaining to this department has been placed in one corner. Adjoining the Assessor's room is the

SURVEYOR'S OFFICE,

Which is a plain room and is as yet devoid of furniture shelving or counters. In fact this official requires but little furniture, for his business does not require much of his time in the office. A handsome Brussels carpet will adorn it. The room of the

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Adjoins the Surveyor's office. It is elegantly furnished with a large book rack and document case containing a number of drawers. The necessary shelving has been erected, the painting completed and the room is ready for the carpet. We are confident Superintendent Lynch will take much comfort in his new quarters. In the north end of the building, to the right, as you enter from Fifth street is the

[illegible]

which consist of three rooms viz A public office [illegible] a large waiting or witness room from which [illegible] a pair of [illegible] stairs lead to the Court rooms above. [illegible] the end of which is a vault for valuable papers [illegible] taken from prisoners etc. A petition separates the front [illegible] which is [illegible] with the [illegible]. The waiting room will be [illegible] of furniture [illegible] will be ready [illegible]. On the [illegible] in the northern corner [illegible] building [illegible]

[illegible]

A large room with a large number of shelves, book racks etc. The painters have [illegible] but it is nearly completed. The [illegible] of the most elaborately gotten up rooms in the building. The private office of the Clerk is in one corner and will be separated by an ornamental arch and door from the main room

[illegible]

Is in the [illegible] first expressly built for [illegible] It is situated in the western end of the building and is a model of taste and artistic skill. On all sides are erected long lines of book racks where the records of the county will be kept. There are [illegible] 867 [illegible] for books and they [illegible] the finishing touches from the painters. At the extreme eastern end is the [illegible] of the Recorder which is on an elevated platform which contains shelving drawers desks counters etc. It is fitted up to correspond with the balance of the room. All the description we might give would not convey an idea of the extensive improvements that are introduced into this department. A visit is necessary to thoroughly understand them. We now ascend the grand stairs and enter the

SUPERVISORS' ROOM

Which is immediately over the Recorder's office. This apartment is yet in an incomplete state but this week it will receive its finishing touches. A railing of black walnut in semi-circle separates the officials from the lobbyists while a raised dais is erected for the President of the Board. The Clerk's table is placed in front of this dais and the members will sit around a long table in the form of a semi-circle. A large lobby in the rear will accommodate those who take sufficient interest in the affairs of the county to be present. Leaving the Supervisors' room we enter

THE COURT ROOMS

On the Broadway side of the building. As yet they are in a [illegible] incomplete state and will not be ready for several weeks. They are both of a size and occupy the entire Broadway front. The carpenters are still at work in them and as there is no furniture of any kind in them we will leave them for the present

WHEN THE BUILDING WILL BE OCCUPIED

With the exception of the Court rooms the building will be ready for occupation by the 1st proximo. In fact it has been decided to begin to move about that time so as to have the old buildings at East Oakland vacated by the 10th which will end the month then. It is expected that most of the carpets will be laid by the last of this week. Nearly all of them have been sewed together, and are ready to go down. No formal opening of the building is yet announced, but we think, with many others it should be properly "warmed" and a general blow-out take place. For the amount of money that has been spent on the new Court House, thanks are due to [illegible] and the Superintendent Mr C V Babcock may congratulate himself upon its completeness and the really first class [illegible] construction in all details. Alameda county can now boast of one of the finest Court Houses in California

Horse and Carriage Auction

[illegible] May 27, the regular weekly sale of horses, cows, carriages, buggies, saddles etc will be held at Dunsters Horse and Carriage Bazaar, corner of Third and Franklin streets. Mr Ezekiels is managing these sales something that Oakland has needed and there will be people at this sale having these things to dispose of and wishing to obtain them [illegible] Ezekiels is just the man to [illegible] the wants

Don't Eat It.

A physician of Oakland says the wall paper now in use contains arsenic, copper, mercury and lead. Such being the case, we would advise our readers to eat as little of it hereafter as possible

Indignation Meeting.

An adjourned indignation meeting was held at the office of Judge Howard in East Oakland, last evening, to protest against the action of the city authorities of Oakland in the matter of locating and opening Commerce street, a work which is to cost for right of way alone $53,772 and which, it is alleged is not needed nor desired by the parties generally most directly affected. Judge Howard presided and Mr J O Plunkett was Secretary of the meeting. After reading the minutes of the preliminary meeting the following resolution was offered and adopted

BACHELORS' HALL.

A Party of Young Gentlemen Discontented With the Usual Method of Living, Propose Going it on Their Own Hook

A party of young gentlemen of Oakland to whom restaurant living has become distasteful and who are thoroughly disgusted with sleeping in rooms by themselves and submitting to the peculations of chambermaids, who wish to occupy quarters free from the intrusion of impecunious landladies who wish to revel in the thought that their pomades and perfumes will escape the pilfering touch of house servants, that their French soaps will be safe that their neck-tie boxes will remain undisturbed, that their bureau drawers will remain unopened, that their albums—filled with Oakland beauties of the tender persuasion—will not be mauled by dirty-faced children with greasy fingers and that they can enjoy themselves in their own manner without disturbing the sour old hypochondriac on the floor below, or the invalid lady in the next room—propose shortly to open a regular Bachelors' Hall on strictly business principles. The intention is to rent a large house in some convenient locality, and fit it up with all the requirements for housekeeping. Each member is to furnish his own room in any particular style that may suit his fancy, but of course making it correspond to the balance of the house as near as possible

The principal rooms for the use of the Club will be a large parlor which will be used for social enjoyment, a reception room dining room, kitchen, etc. Each member will bear his pro rata of expense in carrying on this portion of the establishment. A housekeeper will be employed, who will have sole control of the establishment, and have such assistance as the exigencies of the office demand. It will be a stock arrangement, and rules and regulations will be drawn up for the government of the Club. We understand that one of the rules requires the surrender to the Club of all stock, furniture, etc, which any member may have in the concern, should he commit the grave offense of getting married. This is rather arbitrary and unjust for that is just the time he needs these articles most. Ostracize him, gentleman, place him on the black list, pass a resolution blackening his character, or do anything that may damn his moral standing, but give him his furniture!

The Club is now in a fair way of permanent organization. A meeting was held on Sunday and many plans were discussed looking toward a speedy culmination of the project

We can imagine these young gentlemen sitting at their breakfast table, vacantly staring at each other, and now and then breaking out in a torrent of abuse because the coffee may be cold, or the buckwheat cakes a little doughy and we can picture a cream pitcher flying at the head of the waiter because that others can't wait on them all at the same time or the volley of oaths that will escape their lips because a long black hair happens to get into the butter, and other little amusements of this kind that may be indulged in to offset the absence of female society. You may enjoy your Batchelor's Hall, gentleman if you can, but for our part, give us lovely woman, or give us death

The New M. E. Church

The result of several meetings of the Methodist Church Society lately held, is that they will return to the original plan of a basement church on account of its greater economy and convenience for vestry purposes. It is decided to make the audience room about twelve feet longer so that it shall be 61 feet by 40 on the main floor. This will give sittings for at least 1,100 people and be large enough for all time to come. In other respects the original church as planned will be built. The Society have been perplexed but we learn harmonious and have at last settled upon this as the best possible course to pursue under the circumstances

Who Can Give It?

A single gentleman advertises in the 50 Cent Column for a furnished room with board and stall accommodations for a horse

Housekeeping.

A woman desires a situation to do the general housework of a small family, or to assist in the work of a large family. Notice in the 50-Cent Column.

Will Try It Again.

Mr M G Pumphrey, of Oakland, has made two trips to Los Angeles and each was attended with a serious casualty to himself. The first time he went, on the night of his arrival there, the weather being so excessively hot, he opened his window in the third story of the Pico House and sat on the window-sill where he fell asleep, but shortly after found himself on the asphaltum pavement below, with limbs broken and out of joint and he was some eight months getting well enough to get around. As it is, he is a cripple, and will probably be one all his life from the effects of this accident. On the occasion of his second visit he was wrecked on the steamer Ventura last month, and suffered indescribable anguish and bodily pain before he was rescued. He now proposes to try the trip, and on Saturday next he will leave on one of Goodall, Nelson and Perkins steamers. He thinks, if he is lucky, he will be killed this time. But we trust he will land safely at his destination, and receive ample recompense in a happy home in that country for the many hardships he has had to encounter in his efforts to settle there

The Man Who Wanted Information.

Yesterday noon, while all the people around the office except the "head reporter" were at dinner, the smell of smoke suddenly became apparent, and a fat man, smoking a big pipe, came toiling up stairs. When he had recovered his breath and taken a seat he inquired:

"Is der big editor what knows everydings in?"

"No—gone to dinner," was the reply.

"Und he shall come back purty soon?"

"In about two hours."

"I can't wait so quick as dat; I haf to go to a funeral."

"Do you want anything?"

"Yes. I wants to know some dings about that Peecher scandal. You zee, one day about dree months ago a fellow comes mit my zaloon and he says: 'Did you hears noddings about Mr. Peecher?' und I say nix, und he say Mr. Peecher sthole corn."

"Und when I was in der Zity Hall a man sthrikes me on der pack, und says: 'Hello, old frent, is Mr. Peecher guilty?' Und I said I dunno, und he said Mr. Peecher hiret a man to blow up a schurch mit a barrel of powder."

"Yes."

"Und den when I was in Dearborn a man looks pretty sharp at me und says: 'You lif in Detroit, don't you?' Und I said I lif in Detroit. Und he says: 'Woat is your shudgment on dat Peecher pisiness?' Und I said noddings. Und he said Mr. Peecher had a fight mit a zircus man."

"He is a great preacher, and he lives in Brooklyn."

"Zo? Und what he do?"

"He got one of these tobacco boxes with a needle in the cover, and carried it around in his pocket. When a man tried to open it the needle went into his thumb about twenty-five feet."

"Is dat bossible?"

"Yes, and he had his vest pocket made so deep that cigar would go clear out of sight, and he kept it full and deceived the public."

"My zoul! but is dat zo?"

"Yes, and he keeps an old wild cat bill in his wallet to lend out when a man wants to secure the loan of a dollar for a few minutes."

In addition to the usual Board of Trustees, there will be an ADVISORY BOARD of twenty-five members, to be selected from among the Stockholders, who will be consulted upon all important transactions.

The object of this Company, as stated in its Certificate of Incorporation, is "to acquire title, by purchase or otherwise, to mines upon and contiguous to the Comstock Lode, in the State of Nevada; and to work and develop the same."

To provide funds for this purpose, shares will be sold at five dollars each, and issued upon subscription, FULL PAID AND UNASSESSABLE.

There are many valuable locations about the Comstock, in the hands of parties who are unable either to develop them, or to take the necessary steps to acquire government title to them. Many of these claims may be had at merely nominal rates, compared with their actual value by a combination strong enough to hold and work them. There is also much mining ground open for location, and for which United States Patents can be procured.

Mining experience shows conclusively that experts and scientific persons are not always able to point unerringly to ore deposits.
